Human Service Provider Compensation Study

Conducted July 2018 - December 2018

United Way of Greater Rochester
December 2018

To our Provider Partners:

Thank you to all those who took the time to share community data points and allow United Way to conduct this comprehensive study. We are pleased to provide this report in an effort to help support, strengthen and inform our community's incredible nonprofit sector.

What is the Compensation Study?

United Way conducts this study as a service to our community. The study was last conducted in 2013 and is designed to serve as a resource for human service organizations across Monroe County to benchmark current compensation trends and help inform decisions for staffing, benefits, time off and position-specific compensation. The goal is to attract and retain top talent that will ultimately help organizations fulfill their missions and enhance our community efforts.

What is new this year?

United Way refreshed the tool in 2018 to include a benefits section to better inform local human service organizations across our community. These benefits include health care, paid time off, shift differential, fringe benefit rates and retirement plans.

How was the study conducted?

The research team at United Way collected the data and compiled it without any indication or organization-specific information to ensure all entries were secure and confidential. The data in this report is aggregated to ensure anonymity.

We want to hear from you! We would be appreciative of questions and feedback to ensure this is a useful tool. Please email Scott Warburton, Senior Research Associate, at Scott.Warburton@uwrochester.org or Jennifer Cathy, Chief Impact Officer, at Jennifer.Cathy@uwrochester.org.

Thank you, again, to organizations that partnered and participated in this project, and all using this data to stay informed and strengthen our local human service sector.

METHODOLOGY

Custom-designed MS Excel templates were emailed to nonprofit organizations of all sizes requesting the following data:

1) Organization name and contact
2) Organization size
3) Salary rate ranges for 31 selected, common human service job descriptions
4) Salary minimums and maximums for those 31 jobs
5) Exempt or non-exempt status of jobs
6) Scheduled weekly work hours for jobs
7) Number of employees in position
8) Healthcare benefits offered
9) Paid time off - holidays, vacation days, sick days, personal time off (PTO) - or - combination of total paid time off
10) Shift differential pay
11) Average calculated fringe rate
12) Retirement plan benefits and matching contributions

The last 5 parameters are new this year, not included in previous studies.
Completed survey templates were received from 64 participating organizations, representing more than 11,000 employees.

Summary statistics are presented for each of the 31 job descriptions, plus subsets by agency size where the sample was sufficient to make the data meaningful. A minimum of four (4) responses was required for any subset to protect confidentiality of information. In instances where organizations supplied both salary and hourly data for positions, both rates are included and reported in the appropriate subsets.

Two caveats regarding the information in this survey:

- Data for some positions remains, at best, minimal and should be viewed with discretion as those positions may not be representative of overall pay practices
- While this survey is a tool for determining how an agency's pay structure relates to others in a given area, the study should not be used as absolute compensation standards. Care should be exercised in utilizing survey data and specific results should be examined in the context of overall survey findings and the general economic climate prevailing at the time of the study.

DEFINITIONS

The following definition are used on the summary statistical pages:
# orgs is the total number of organizations reporting data for a specific position or subset
# emps is the number of employees for which data was reported for a specific position
Rates reported are hourly rates with rates per hour computed to the nearest cent
Mean is the average rate paid for the position

Average rate ranges

Min is the average of the hourly minimum rates reported for the position
Max is the average of the hourly maximum rates reported for the position

Actual rate ranges

Min is the absolute lowest hourly minimum rate reported for the position Max is the absolute highest hourly maximum rate reported for the position
\% Exempt Organizations is the percentage of organizations regarding the position to be exempt as defined under the Fair Labor Standards Act
\% Exempt Employees is the percentage of total employees reported exempt in the position as defined under the Fair Labor Standards Act

Average scheduled hours is the average hours per week reported for the position
Fringe benefit rate is the cost of employee benefits divided by wages paid
Personal time off (PTO) is shown for some organizations as incremental to holiday, vacation, and sick days and in others as a composite of all time off
